2004 Chip Quality Seminar August 2-4, 2004 Atlanta Renaissance Concourse Hotel Atlanta Airport

The Chip Quality Seminar will again be offered on August 2-4, 2004, at the Atlanta Renaissance Concourse Hotel at the Atlanta Airport. This highly rated seminar provides attendees with state-of-the-art technology and problem-solving information on pulp chip supply, production, processing and quality control.

It is being held just prior to the Southern MOTAG meeting to allow attendance at both key events for woodroom and woodyard operators, engineers and consultants. It is especially valuable for those whose job now takes them from the pulp mill operations to the wood procurement and woodyard area.

The seminar includes everything you need to know to more effectively operate a chip production system:

- What chip quality does a pulp mill really need?
- Roundwood handling and processing
- Debarking
- Chipping
- Chip Screening and Contaminant Control
- Satellite Chip Plant Operation
- Chip Handling and Storage
- Chip Quality Control

This is not just a long series of lectures. Every question will be addressed by the faculty and experienced attendees (the only dumb question is the one you didn't ask before the end of the seminar!!). Several group problem-solving exercises, multi-media presentations and networking opportunities are also a key part of the seminar.

The faculty are experienced experts in chip production and quality and have received recognition as TAPPI Outstanding Faculty and an Outstanding Short Course:

Bill Fuller – FRM Consulting
Desmond Smith – Acrowood
Robin Berlyn – Consultant and PAPRICAN (retired)
Randy Stevenson – Georgia-Pacific

Course Fee: $950.00

MOTAG-South Special Fee: $900.00 if you attend both the Seminar and MOTAG-South immediately following the Seminar (August 5 & 6 – at the same location)

A block of rooms is reserved at the Renaissance Concourse. Tell them your are attending the Chip Quality Seminar. Register soon to get the $115.00 (plus tax) room rate!! 404-209-9999 www.renaissancehotels.com
